KURAPATKIN TALKS AS

Declares He Will Drive the Japanese Into the Sea and That the Treaty of Peace Must Be Signed in the Japanese Capitol at Tokio.

Special Cable to World and Post-Dispatch.

(Copyright, 1904, by the Press Publishing Co.)

TIEN TSIN, March 12.—It is reported here today that the Japanese have captured New Chwang. This news is probably premature. It is believed, however, that the Japanese have really landed in Liao Tung peninsula, at the head of which New Chwang is situated, and cut off Port Arthur from communication with the Russian base at Liao Yang and Mukden.

It is further asserted that a strong Japanese force is within 25 miles of New Chwang, from which town civilians and officials otherwise than military have been hurrying for the past few days in expectation of the coming attack.

It is now apparent that the Russian force will not be able to prevent the Japanese from seizing New Chwang from the land side, and so throwing it open to their feet; while, with the Japanese in force 70 miles east, as they are said to be, the whole of the Liao Tung peninsula lies open to them, and the railway from Port Arthur to Mukden will shortly be in their hands.

The effect of the campaign so far is that the whole of the seaboard from Chwang round the coast of the Liao Tung peninsula (with the exception of Port Arthur), the Liao Tung gulf, Corea bay and Corea is in the hands of the Japanese as completely as the sea was at the first stroke of the navy.

Dispatch from Port Arthur today says that the Japanese squadron, which disappeared after Friday's bombardment and naval fight, has not returned. Russian torpedo boats scouted out to sea this morning and returned this afternoon.

Although during the bombardment a number of shells from the Japanese ships burst in the streets of the town, the damage to the buildings was comparatively slight.

The new town sustained the greatest damage. A shell burst a few yards from the house of M. Sidorski, a lawyer, and he and his daughter were killed. Mme. Sidorski was injured by fragments of shell and a girl named Waleritch was wounded and died soon afterward in a hospital. Gen. Stossel, the commander of the Russian troops at Port Arthur, and his staff, while watching the bombardment from a battery, were peppered by splinters from a shell, but sustained no injuries.

On Golden Hill, Lieut. Wachtin and one soldier were wounded.

Two sentries on Electric Cliff were wounded.

Part of the Japanese ships took up a position in Pigeon Bay, around the promontory, and threw shells a distance of seven miles over the ridge into the harbor. The ships in that position were completely protected from the fire of the Russian forts.

GREAT NORTH RIVER
TUNNEL COMPLETED

TWO HOLIDAYS FOR WORKMEN

Soon the Tracks Will Be Built and Railroad Trains Will Shoot Through It.

NEW YORK, March 12.—The North river has been obliterated at last. A dream that has stirred the pulse of two great cities for 30 years has become a reality. Twenty men passed through a completed tunnel under the Hudson river today.

The gang of men pushing the cutting shield under the bed of the river broke through into the New York heading just before noon, and the last ring of the cast iron casing plates was riveted into place at 11:35 a. m. That ended it.

So exact had been the calculations of the engineers that, when the closing shield was opened, the tunnel was found to be connected without an inch of discrepancy. The first to look through the shield into the New York heading was Superintendent Jas. Brady. He yelled with delight as he gazed on the faces of the New York gang of workmen.

Before entering the first air-lock, where the pressure was 17 pounds to the square inch, each member of the party was handed a box of gum and told to "chew for dear life." "If you feel that you are about to turn inside out," remarked a doctor, cheerfully, "swallow, swallow, swallow, as fast as you can."

Thus encouraged, President McAdoo and his companions set out on the first stage of their journey. The air inside the shield was being turned on. Seated in the small cable cars which had been used to carry out excavated materials, the party rolled along the rails and through the electrically illuminated steel tube now into the dark, now into the brilliant light; down and down, to the lowest point, far under the bed of the Hudson; then gradually up, until they had traveled 4000 feet from the entrance.

There they reached the end of the first lock, and crawled through the stout steel doors into the second lock, where the pressure was even greater.

Through the door of the second lock, the repeated warning of President McAdoo as they made their way on foot up the long line of the tunnel to the point where the connection had been made with the New York heading just a little while before.

Guarding the entrance to the tunnel, the solid rock cut which had given the engineers the greatest trouble.

At one stage of the journey Chief Engineer Jacobs told the party they were only a few feet from the bottom of the river, millions of tons of water above them, and a stout steel tube as their only protection.

Through the door of the second lock, the members of the party crowded and drew up like a cluster of grapes, when the tunnel was very broad, but insisted that Mr. Rosier had ordered them so. "We didn't want to make this coat as it is," said Schmidt.

HIS COAT A FIT,
ROZIER MUST PAY

Justice Spaulding Decides That Tailor Schmidt Is Entitled to Full Amount of Bill.

WIDE LAPELS OBJECTED TO

Testimony of Competing Tailors Convicted Magistrate That Garment Was Highly Becoming.

Justice Spaulding has handed down a decision in the Rozier-Schmidt coat case. He gives Tailor H. A. Schmidt a judgment for $72.50, the full amount of the bill.

Schmidt made a double-breasted Prince Albert coat for Edgar J. Rozier, a St. Louis society man. When it was ready Rozier refused to accept it, alleging that it was a misfit.

Mr. Rozier intimated that he would look like a Pike exhibit in it. Schmidt put the coat in a suit case and took it into court. He had Mr. Rozier summoned to try the coat on in court. Other tailors testified that it was a fit. Mr. Rozier still insisted that the coat was ridiculous. It had very broad lapels, which made him look like a sailboat bowing along the street. They intimated that if he wore it their salutation henceforth would be changed from "Hello" to "Ahooy!"

The tailor admitted that Mr. Rozier had ordered them so. "We didn't want to make this coat as it is," said Schmidt.

NEW SERVICE MAKES
POST-DISPATCH FIRST
WITH THE WAR NEWS

All the war news collected by the great European news agencies for the Associated Press is now transmitted from Japanese, Chinese and Korean points in the field direct to the United States by Pacific cable. Hitherto this matter has been transmitted via India and has been repeated from London to this country. Under this new arrangement first publication of all of this news will be made in the United States.

As the Post-Dispatch is the only St. Louis afternoon paper with Associated Press dispatches, it will be the first to give publication here of great battles and other important military events.

In addition to Gov. Dinwiddie, the World and Post-Dispatch have four experienced special war correspondents in the field.

A. J. Fleischman of New York, Uncle of Cincinnati's Mayor, Seriously Ill.

A. J. Fleischman of New York, a member of the well-known New York and Cincinnati Fleischman family, was stricken with heart trouble at 11 o'clock Saturday morning while conversing with Norris B. Gregg, director of concessions for the World's Fair, in the outer office of Director of Works Isaac Taylor.

For half an hour Mr. Fleishman's life was despaired of, as the first attack from which he fainted was followed by two more, but at noon Dr. Moore announced that he was apparently out of immediate danger.

A. J. Fleishman has the concession for the Model Restaurant in the Model City, and called with Mr. Gregg Saturday morning to confer with Mr. Taylor about alterations of the plans for the porch. He became quite excited while conversing with Mr. Gregg and fainted.

Mr. Fleishman is quite wealthy and is an uncle of Mayor Julius Fleishman of Cincinnati.

When the slip was handed to him the reporter asked where he should vote. One of Lavin's lieutenants replied: "We vote at the Arcade in Cabanne. We have vehicles to take all of you there."

A carriage, a tallyho and a two-seated wagon wear the vehicles. The "Indians" were piled into them, and a little before 1 o'clock were started for the Arcade, where they all voted.

Among the lieutenants in charge of the party were "Bill" Walters, known as "Wild Bill," and Mike Connelly, well known as ward workers.

The "Indians" reached the Arcade promptly. Thirty minutes after the polls opened it was announced by a well-known worker for the Hawes faction at that box—the second district in the Twenty-eighth Ward—that 46 votes had been cast.

To a Post-Dispatch reporter, this worker, who said he knew all the men, in announcing: "From the appearance of the men who have voted, we should say that 36 of the votes cast were for the Hawes delegate."

INDIANS VOTING
FRAUDULENTLY IN TWENTY-EIGHTH WARD

EACH GIVEN NAME OF VOTER ON WHICH TO VOTE

Post-Dispatch Reporter Who Mingled With the Indians Is Furnished Instructions How to Vote on Another Man's Name.

"Indians" began voting in the Twenty-eighth Ward soon after the polls were opened in the Folk-Hawes primary contest for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

Before the polls were opened Post-Dispatch reporters found positive evidence of a plan to use "repeaters" at the various voting precincts.

Forty men gathered at the saloon of John Lavin, 207 North Seventh street, at 11 o'clock, and were given instructions as to the voting they were expected to do.

At Lavin's North Seventh street saloon each of the 40 men was given a slip of paper containing the name of the duly qualified voter whose ballot he was supposed to cast.

A Post-Dispatch reporter who mingled with the "Indians" for the purpose of giving publicity to their methods was given a slip bearing the name of THOMAS FINNEGAN of 6142 Bartmer avenue.

The man who said he lived there said his name was Givens, and that he was a policeman. He said he had built the house there several years ago, and had always lived there. He said nobody by the name of Finnegan had ever lived there, and he did not know who he was.

Later, his wife said a man by the name of Finnegan boarded there until two months ago, when he left. She does not know where he moved to.

Nothing was said to the men as to whom they should vote for, but it was understood by all that Lavin and his lieutenants in marshaling the "Indians" were ardent supporters of the Hawes faction.

INDIANS WERE TAKEN TO CABANNE DISTRICT.

When the slip was handed to him the reporter asked where he should vote. One of Lavin's lieutenants replied: "We vote at the Arcade in Cabanne. We have vehicles to take all of you there."

A carriage, a tallyho and a two-seated wagon wear the vehicles. The "Indians" were piled into them, and a little before 1 o'clock were started for the Arcade, where they all voted.

WILL HIS "MAGIC" BRING HER BACK?

Edwardsville Wife Fighting to Release Herself From Mental Control of Her Husband.

POWERLESS TO OPPOSE HIM

Friends Indignant at Turkish Doctor, Whom Police Will Not Allow to Enter City.

Sunday's arrival and passage will decide whether the mystic power which she says her Turkish husband has over her is strong enough to free Mrs. Amanda Merkel Pasha of Edwardsville from her mother and the grave of the man whom she killed.

Mrs. Pasha says this mystic power was strong enough to cause her to marry a man for whom she had no love, and still retain an aversion to leave her mother without telling her of her plans; to desert the man whom she loved and who never recovered from the blow, and even after a realization of what she had done had come to her, to cause her to remain with the stranger whom she had married.

Not until she had gained the consent of her husband, she says, could she leave him to visit her mother for two weeks. The husband warned her that at the end of that period his magic would force her to return to him, whether she chose to do so or not. The two weeks expired Sunday.

"I have been fighting against my husband's influence," she said. "Sometimes I have felt it weakening, and have become hopeful; again it has come over me as strong as ever, and I have trembled. I do not know whether his magic or my will shall win tomorrow."

Mrs. Merkel, the young woman's mother, declares her daughter had and still retains an aversion to leave her mother without telling her of her plans; to desert the man whom she loved and who never recovered from the blow, and even after a realization of what she had done had come to her, to cause her to remain with the stranger whom she had married.

Since Mrs. Pasha's arrival in Edwardsville on this visit, the suitors whom she killed, Peter Hoff, has died. His friends say his heart was broken. When he was told that his fiancée had eloped with Pasha, he reeled as though struck. Then he became delirious, and after that time he did not leave his bed. He died Monday, without the knowledge that she had returned to her home, and was buried Wednesday.

Mrs. Merkel, a prominent belle of Edwardsville, came under the influence of Pasha Dec. 15 last. Pasha, who says he is a Turkish prince, exiled, kidnapped and raised by a Hindu magician who taught him his "magic," lays claim to wonderful occult and healing powers. He arrived in Edwardsville early in December and created a sensation there.

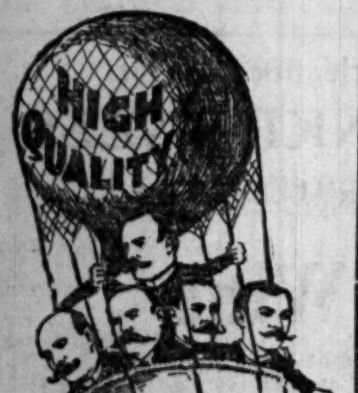

Mrs. Merkel says she did not know of him until one day she heard her mother's servants speaking of his performances. Curiosity led her to visit him. "I did not love him," she said. "I did not even think I loved him; but when he told me to come to his office again, and again, I obeyed, and when he told me to get ready to elope with him, I did so. We went to Lawrenceville, Ill., in the night of Dec. 20, and were married by Rev. W. H. Cole. Since then we have been through Illinois, Indiana and Ohio. He is now in Indiana."

"I have sought to read my thoughts, but he, seeming to read my thoughts, has laughed and told me to try it. I could not see some phenomenal power held me fast. Finally I begged him to let me visit my mother. He said I might come for two weeks, but warned me that I should have to return to him then. The two weeks expired tomorrow."

Mrs. Pasha insists that her husband has all the mystic powers she credits him with, and that it is not all in her own imagination. She has remained close at home since her arrival in Edwardsville, but her charges against her husband—who she says treats her with great consideration except for "controlling" her by his "magic"—have reached the residents of the town, and there is great indignation against him.

Mrs. Mamie Ewell, 45 years old, of 1002 Chestnut street, is at the city hospital receiving treatment for zinc sulphate poisoning. She was received at 11:30 Friday night in a serious condition and it was supposed that she had attempted to commit suicide, but she said Saturday that she had taken the drug for medicinal purposes. ## PATT'S "DEAR AMERICA" IS ONLY "VULGAR" NOW

Diva Sails Away After Roasting Country That Enriched Her by $200,000, Declaring We Preferred Prize Fights to Her "Art."

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, March 12.—Patti sailed away today. Her "Dear America" had not the charm for her it once possessed, so she only took $200,000 with her as tribute from that part of the inquisitive American public, which sought the privilege of looking upon her, on the latest of her series of "farewell" tours.

Mme. Patti's return home is a bit more precipitate than was expected when she made her triumphant re-entrance into New York. While she has profited financially from her tour—she is too good a business woman to do otherwise—she has learned things about her once golden voice which are unpleasant, though true.

The Robert Gray Co., which brought her over, paid the freight to the tune of a total loss of about $25,000.

At her hotel the singer was somewhat double-natured. To one reporter she declared, in the same old critical way of 20 years ago, her love for "dear America."

"Don't think," she said, "that I am going back broken-hearted. Indeed, my tour has been a profitable one to me. The whole trouble lies in the fact that there are not enough big cities in America for me to sing in."

Capt. McCulloch FILLS TWO PLACES

New General Manager Succeeds Du Pont in Executive Place and Spencer in Vice-Presidency.

Capt. Robert McCulloch will come to St. Louis to assume the management of the Transit Co. as soon as he can arrange his work as general manager of the Chicago and City Railway so as to leave that company without embarrassment, as told in the late editions of Friday's Post-Dispatch.

A. B. du Pont, whom he succeeds as general manager of the Transit company, will leave St. Louis as soon as Capt. McCulloch takes up his active duties here. The future relation of Superintendent John Grant to the company rests with Capt. McCulloch.

Capt. McCulloch was elected vice-president of the Transit company Friday afternoon. The office of second vice-president of the United Railways Co. and the Transit company, he succeeds C. H. Spencer.

After the election, President Murray Carleton announced that the remaining $50,000 of the $200,000 bond issue had been disposed of in New York, and that the company was in excellent shape for the World's Fair.

Mr. du Pont is stated to have declined reelection as second vice-president at the termination of his three-year contract in January. He is said to have received $25,000 a year, and Capt. McCulloch's salary is stated to be $15,000.

Arrest After Meeting.
Louis Bruhl of 325 Wash street is a prisoner at the Four Courts, pending the decision of two business men in Portland, Ore., whether they will prosecute him on a charge of forgery preferred by E. C. Redden of 3253 Laclede avenue. Bruhl was that in November, 1902, while he and Bruhl were traveling together in Vancouver, B. C., Bruhl too kept checking and after leaving the indorsement, got two business men of Portland to identify him at the bank and cashed it. The business men were the losers. A chance meeting between Redden and Bruhl Wednesday brought about the arrest Thursday.

151 STATESMEN TO GATHER ABOUT WHITEWASH CAN

House Votes Itself Biggest Calsomining Job in Nation's History in Deciding to Investigate Members' Relations to Postal Scandal.

THE RUDE MR. BRISTOW WILL GET WHAT'S COMING TO HIM

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, March 12.—Leaping from crag to crag, like the agile chamois, the members of the House of Representatives went the extreme limit of debate, from calling Postmaster-General Payne a "distinguished imbecile" to nominating Speaker Cannon for President, late yesterday afternoon.

Then they meekly voted to investigate themselves, to prove to the world that the allegations in the special report sent to the House by the postoffice department are utterly unfounded.

Plans and specifications were prepared for the most extensive job of whitewashing the republic has ever seen.

One hundred and fifty-one statesmen, Democrats and Republicans, are invited to appear before a special committee to be appointed by the speaker, and prove that they are stalwarts.

The Democrats made an ineffectual attempt to get an investigation of the entire postoffice department. Two days ago this was possible. The death of Representative Croft of South Carolina came as a dispensation of Providence for the House leaders. They got an adjournment for 24 hours, and in that time they put on the screws.

President Roosevelt directed the job of subjugation. He was answered at the time by a report that showed the representatives to be concerned in getting salaries and clerk hire, rent and fuel allowances from the odorous George W. Beavers, now under indictment by means of letters beginning "Dear Mr. Beavers."

He sent for the leaders of the House and told them it was a stupid piece of business. The leaders took off their coats and went to work. When the House met the Republicans were still sore. They cursed everybody connected with the report, but they voted as the leaders told them to.

Lodge Posed as the Lion Tamer.
Toward the close of the debate, when there were still a few Republicans with backbone enough to stand out against the party leaders, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, the "White House philosopher," as he was called by a Republican, appeared in the House.

Lodge's visits to the House and few and far between.

He walked around the House, showing himself much as the lion tamer shakes a heavy whip before the animals on entering his cage.

Senator Lodge then proceeded to confer with the recalcitrants. He sent for the Hon. Overton, the Hon. Cullen, Critchfield and Daisell—all of whom are enriched by the special report, and told them the President would not have an investigation of the postoffice department on the eve of his campaign.

He then turned after such revolutionary acts as Cooper of Wisconsin, Jenkins of Colorado, Hill of Connecticut, Grover of Illinois and the lesser lights.

He then turned to the Hon. Senator McKim and the Hon. Senator Aldrich and the Hon. Senator Chandler and the Hon. Senator Tamm and the Hon. Senator Cullum and the Hon. Senator Dingle and the Hon. ## INVESTIGATE RUMOR OF VICE SYNDICATE

GUARDS TO MEET ALL TRAINS

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, March 12.—To protect young girls from organized efforts of agents of vice during the St. Louis Exposition, the National Board of Women's and Young Women's Christian Associations are holding a conference here. Women from all over the United States have been stirred by reports that a syndicate capitalized at $100,000 has been formed for the purpose of luring young women to St. Louis.

Pending their investigation of this report the allied bodies of the Y. W. C. A. propose to take every means in their power not only to safeguard the girls arriving in St. Louis, but to warn those in remote places of the danger that awaits them there. Through the travelers' aid department, which is an important feature of the work, the association already reaches a large number. Trains and steamers are to be met by their officials, and efforts made to befriend all those who are in need of advice or shelter. Every train will be met by agents of the association wearing badges to identify them. Posters will be widely scattered, not only through the city, but through outlying towns and villages. Emergency lodgings will be provided for the newcomers, who are uncertain of her destination. The cooperation of all organizations formed for the protection of young women will be asked, and the plans of the committee will be disseminated through the press.

Mrs. W. B. Duxton of Springfield, Mass., is in the chair and representatives from Cleveland, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Boston, Brooklyn and New York are present. The Young Women's Christian Association was the first to take up the cause of endeavor to protect ignorant girls coming to a strange city, and whether or not proof of the existence of a vice syndicate is forthcoming these preventive measures will be put in force.

Another meeting will be held two weeks hence, when the completed plans will be announced.

AUNT TAKES GIRLS FROM THEIR MOTHER

Father Said He Was Not Satisfied With Stepfather's Treatment of Daughters.

Mrs. Doris Lorraine of 124 Sidney street reported to the police Saturday that her two little girls had been taken from the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Ida Lorraine, of 2804 South Eleventh street, by Mrs. Anna Wilson, an aunt of the children, who said she was going to take them to their father, Frank Wilson, in Kansas City.

Mrs. Lorraine reports that the children were taken by Mrs. Wilson Wednesday afternoon, and that she has since been unable to get possession of them.

Mrs. Lorraine and her first husband are divorced. She says the divorce was granted to her in Sullivan County, Mo., Nov. 28, 1903, and that she was given $1000 alimony and the custody of the two children, Eva, 18 years old, and Vernie, 6 years old. Since then she has married Lorraine.

It was her custom to send the children to the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Ida Lorraine, during the day. They would go to the South Eleventh street house about 8 o'clock in the morning, remain for lunch, and until their mother came for them in the evening.

This program was carried out Wednesday, Mrs. Lorraine says, but when she called at her sister-in-law's home the children were not there.

Mrs. Ida Lorraine says that in the afternoon Mrs. Wilson, whose address is said to be room 303 Shubert building, 1023 Grand avenue, Kansas City, came to the house and announced that she was a sister-in-law of the children's father, and had come to get them. She said the father had sent her, as he had been informed that they were not well treated by their stepfather.

Mrs. Ida Lorraine says she did not feel that she had the authority to protect two little girls away from her.

Mrs. Doris Lorraine has told the police that she is anxious to prosecute Mrs. Wilson for taking the children away. She says the children were well treated, well clothed and were given every care. She says Eva, who is blonde, wore a blue dress, a white shirt, a blue jacket and a fur trim. Vernie, who has auburn hair and blue eyes, wore a brown dress, white cap and red jacket.

DECREE LEAVES HIM BUT $6 A WEEK

Frederick L. Walkenhorst Must Pay Half His Salary to Wife and Child.

Frederick L. Walkenhorst of 4344 Sarpy avenue has some heavy financialing ahead of him. Out of $12 a week he is required by a court order to pay his wife $6 a week and turn over to her $5 for suit costs within two weeks and another $25 when the case goes to trial. In addition he must pay $3 a week for the support of his child. And he says he has nothing except the $12 a week which he earns.

Walkenhorst, who is a son of Frederick Walkenhorst, a well-known politician, has all these troubles because his wife is suing him for divorce. In her petition, filed in December, she alleged that he drank, struck her, forced her out of the house and to remain out and deserted her and afterward threatened her bodily harm. She tried to see her 3-year-old son, who had been placed by him in the care of a sister on Tamm avenue.

The husband filed a crossbill, and Mrs. Walkenhorst asked the court to compel her husband to pay her alimony pending the trial of the suit and suit costs, and to compel him to let her see the child.

Arguments were heard by Judge Foster Saturday on the motion. Walkenhorst testified that he was working at his father's brickyard for $12 a day, and expected his wages to be reduced to $10 a week.

Judge Foster looked at the muscular hands of Walkenhorst and questioned him closely about his efforts to obtain more remunerative employment. He said he had been content to work about his father's place.

The order of the court was that Walkenhorst, $25 to be paid within two weeks, was made, and the wife was permitted to see the child every Sunday afternoon.

LIVE AND DEAD NERVE UNITED.

Extraordinary Surgical Operation Is Performed on Child.

PHILADELPHIA, March 12.—A great surgical triumph has been won by Dr. James K. Young of this city. It is the successful splicing of two nerves, a dead and live one, in the leg of a child.

For several weeks the child wore a plaster cast, but this has been discarded, and she now walks, showing but slight traces of the palsy in her limb. She is able to move her foot from left to right.

PANTHER NEARLY KILLS BOY

Young Circus Performer Attacked While Walking Near Beast's Cage in Ship's Hold.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW ORLEANS, March 12.—In the hold of the American steamship Louisiana, coming from Havana to New Orleans on Wednesday, when 100 miles off land, K. Sugimoto, Jr., a 12-year-old Japanese circus performer, was attacked by a man-eating panther.

The boy was being unmercifully bitten when his screams attracted the attention of his father, who quickly rushed to his son's assistance, followed by Capt. Hohen and several passengers.

The panther's claws had torn the boy's clothing and lacerated the flesh. The animal was crouching at the mouth. The youth was pinioned at the bars, but before they could be opened the panther scratched and bit his victim.

The ship's hold contained several lions and leopards, and also became excited at the sight of blood and the boy's cries for help.

As the passengers and the father worked the other animals stuck their claws between the bars and howled with rage.

Finally the half dead performer was released by pinning the panther to the far side of the cage with rods. Every time he was jabbed he held the boy closer, and did not let go until a part of the latter's ribs had been exposed. The rescue was effected after hard work.

STATE SENATOR WILL GIVE CHECK FOR YOUR UMBRELLA

State Senator John F. Morton of Ray County will have the checking done at the World's Fair. The exclusive right to check parcels, grips, umbrellas and other luggage has been granted him.

In order to handle the immense amount of articles that will be left in the care of his employees, Senator Morton has agreed to place from 10 to 20 booths near the various entrances to the Fair, so located that visitors can leave and secure their parcels without changing their course in or out of the grounds.

During his three terms as state senator, Mr. Morton has been an avid supporter of the Fair's legislation. This concession stands in his own name.

THIS LITTLE ORPHAN GIRL IS TRAVELING 1500 MILES ALL ALONE

Sadie Davis, "11 Years Old Going on 12," With Lots of Money, Is on Her Way to Philadelphia From Oklahoma City.

Sadie Davis, "11 years old going on 12," who is traveling alone all the way from Oklahoma City to Philadelphia, was a guest of Matron Hunter at Union Station for about an hour Friday morning.

Sadie is an orphan. Her mother died only a few weeks ago, and her father, who has not had one since she was 3 years old. She preferred taking the risk of traveling 1500 miles all by herself to staying in an orphan's home.

At Union Station while waiting for her train Sadie purchased writing paper, postage stamps and envelopes. She said she intends writing to all her old friends in Oklahoma as soon as she reaches Philadelphia.

She pointed when she found she did not have time to look around for some colored crayons, because she had her mind set on drawing pictures of the scenery along the route, to show the folks in Philadelphia what she had seen while traveling.

Sadie is going to the home of her aunt, Mrs. J. Edward Evenden of 201 Roman street, Philadelphia. This is not the first time she has journeyed to Philadelphia, but on former occasions she went with her mother. She told Mrs. Hunter that she would never forget her stay in St. Louis, as Union Station is the largest place she ever saw.

In addition to transportation Sadie had $15 with which to purchase a sleeping-car, the money having been forwarded to her by her aunt. That was too much money for Sadie to spend just to sleep, so she thought, and she kept the money in her tiny purse, which fairly bulged with its contents.

She had no intention of saving all the money, though, and she kept the train butcher pretty busy on the way from Oklahoma City to St. Louis. She bought so much fruit and candy from him that she had to look around for some colored

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
PITTSBURGH, Pa., March 12.—There will be no double hanging in Allegheny County May 5, the time fixed by Gov. Pennypacker for carrying out the death sentence of William L. Hartley, white, and James Edwards, a negro, said Sheriff James W. Dickson today.

"I have not received the death warrants," he continued, "but in all warrants the time for carrying out the death sentence is fixed between 10 a. m. and 2 p. m., and I will have plenty of time to hang both men at different times."

Under the circumstances of these cases it strikes me as entirely improper that the two men should be hanged at the same time.

"One man is white, the other colored, and there is a natural prejudice against associating the two races. They were not put in the same cell, and they were not together. I have sentimental, as well as human, reasons for not wishing the men to stand on the same scaffold."

CITIZENS HELPED STRANDED TWINS

Post-Dispatch's Story of Family's Misfortune Arouses Sympathy of J. C. Van Blarcom.

Relief came quickly to Mrs. Laura Woods and her three sets of twins as soon as the story of the financial misfortune which compelled them to remain stranded at Union Station for 24 hours was published in the Post-Dispatch Friday.

Before night they had received from a dozen generous citizens, who had read of their misfortune, enough funds to buy their lunches and pay their fare to Ellis Grove Station, Mo., where they have relatives. They left early in the evening with happy hearts, and reached their destination Saturday.

One of those who was impressed by the Post-Dispatch story of their hardships was J. C. Van Blarcom, vice-president of the National Bank of Commerce, and living at 1 Westmoreland place.

As soon as he saw the article Mr. Van Blarcom went to Union Station for the purpose of relieving the stranded family. Other generous ones had preceded him, however, and Mrs. Woods and her six children were on their way. Until late in the evening other charitable persons, bound on the same mission, were inquiring at Union Station for the family.

As was told in the Post-Dispatch, Mrs. Woods and her children were forced to leave Alton when Mrs. Woods, by refusing to commit perjury so that her two eldest children, Eva and Eddie—13 years old, might continue to work in a factory. The state laws require that children shall be at least 16. When the mother admitted to the state factory inspector that the children were only 13, he caused their discharge, and the family, having no other means of subsistence, was forced to leave Alton.

MUNYON'S PAW-PAW CURES CATARRH

Prof. Willard H. Morse, M. D., and Fellow of the London Society of Science, who has made a careful study of Munyon's Paw-Paw as a cure for Catarrh, says: "Munyon's Paw-Paw cures Catarrh through a physiological action which removes all foul and unhealthy mucus of a catarrhal character. It renovates the mucous surfaces, drives out the catarrhal poison wherever it finds lodgment, cleans house, as it were, and in doing so cures Catarrh or Gastritis, and restores healthful conditions."

Catarrh is a National Disease. It affects the Head, Throat, Kidneys, Stomach and Liver, through acute or chronic inflammation of the membranes and tissues. In its nature, it is a poison in the blood. It enters the system through Consumption and other fatal diseases.

A person who has good digestion and pure blood rarely has Catarrh or Rheumatism. These diseases are the result of a putrid stomach and blood in condition will surely cure those diseases. There is not a man but what brings me testimonials from people that have been cured.
